WASHINGTON, July 23, 1869.

THE NEURO BILL.

The hill to arm the negroes of the South is now the feature of the proceedings in Congress. It has been greatly accelerated by the recently-admitted carpet-haggers, who demand its passage as the only hope of carrying the States in question for the day on adjournment brought this House. Dawes and Washburne opposed it strennonsly on pretended nitra radical grounds. But they represent a large class of Republicans who are against it both as a matter of principle and expediency, regarding it as descended by the strength of the streng negro bill prominently before the nnecessary and impolitic. The carpetbaggers, on the other hand, who are trying to establish a sort of balance of power and to rule the connecls of the majority. are making many exactions, this at the head of them all, which they declare to be essential to their own existence and the existence of the Republican organization down South. The fare of the bill is by no means certain. Great opposition to it exists in ontside circles and in the press. A clear majority in the House is for it at heart, but several radical Senators who voted for it, are getting alarmed, and are secretly working for its defeat. The dehate of this morning was very lively and attracted a large crowd. Indeed the measure excites more general interest than any other of the sea sion, except impeachment.

A CAUCUS. Last night a cancus of carpet-haggers was held, which is represented as having been very boisterous. Vokes of Tennes sce made a speech, in which he said that if Congress would give him the arms he would go home and raise a regiment of colored cavalry, which would sweep the terminate every vestige of opposition to the radical party. Loss $10,000. of mining involves large, prompt and sure profits, it will he worth while tor us, perhaps, to exhibit the commercial aspect of the question for the benefit of the public. Mr. Butterworth very conreteously nusered all our questions, and gave us every information concerning the operations of his company. The facts we are shout to give, though partly derived from him, are not secret, but are well known to those familiar with the business, and quite within the reach of nny inquirer. Otherwise, we are lar too deeply indebted to Mr. Buttsrworth and his pleasant family circle to reward their hospitality with a breach of confidence.

The quicksliver trade of the world is an armed truce between Spain and California. The mine of Old Almaden, in Spain, supplies the market of London, and a large part of Europe, and ships its product as far west as the eity of Mexico. Until recently, it also controlled the great Chinese market, but Mr. Butterworth, shipping ten thousand flasks to Hong Kong, and selling affar below the cost, forced the reshipment to Spain of all the Spanish quicksilver; and the market has since been in his hands. The same tactics ou the part of Spain keeps him from the Londou market, and the two great producers are thus forced to divide the worll between thems. But the New Almaden Company is not the only producer of quicksilver in California, and is obliged for self-preservation to accede to a combination with the New Idria and the Eddington, amounts (the works at New Almadeu, for instance, are only run to half their capacity to furnish the allotted 24,000 flasks), and to buy up the quicksilver made by all other companies. There are a number of smaller mines, like those of Guadalupe, which we visited, about eight miles from New Almadeu, and which produce, perhaps, a hundred and lifty tlasks monthly. Over the Alps. All these mines are forced to sell to the and worshops for the maintenance of engines and permanent way. The gradi-ents between this point and Modane, the first station, are respectively 1 in 50, 20, 37, 59, and 250. Intermediate between these two points there is at Lapraz a watering place, and at Fourneaux a siding or trains in contrary directions to pass by roceeding from Modane there is one o

All these mines are forced to sell to the before-mentioned combination, which pays them forty canta a pound, and sells to the public at sixty. This margin of profit may seem excessive, but it must be remembered that the returns from sales are extremely low. The metal is sent to distant agents, and must be sold at retail before the money is received by the producer. It takes perhaps two years to work off the whole of one annual crop. With money at two per cent a month, this delay is no joke. The present combination, which includes the Barons (who were in a certain degree forced to go into it to save their profits on a large amount of quicksilver, which they had scattered through the western hemisphere at the expiration of their well-known contract with New Almaden,) is able to command foreign capital at comparatively low rates; and bence can aftord to wait for the slow Femuueration of the trade. all who desire to know what is Christia In painting character, the writer Abraham Page is singularly successful, and very happy in his portrayal of traits. Mrs. Snow, Sallie Perkius, Mrs. Marlow, and Sophie Walker constitute individualities, each perfectl act, but each one mischievous, di sgreeable, and grovelling in her own way. There are few novelists that rival Abra ham Page in his portrait-painting, whether the "sitter" is beautiful or ugly in all points. The reader is made acquainted with Mary Mclutyre and Stephanic Alle with a few artistic tonches, and they b come pleasant denizens in the memory.

Abraham Page should be a favorite with the medical fraternity. We have neseen the medical profession painted with greater skill, nor with finer touches of art. The chapter devoted to the profes

Abraham Page is generally very correct in his mode of expression, but he wanders occasionally into blemishes. He should know that there is know that there is no special beauty in tenses is sufficient in sentences of the kind quoted. The expression, "It would not have done for Mary to remain alone," must commend itself to Mr. Page as an improvement on the method he used in expressing the thought.

We hope to again meet the author of Ahraham Page in the fields of literature. We shall consider it a great privilege to sit down and commune with him in those re-gions of human interest of which he shows himself a worthy apostle in the capital work before us. He is capable of winning success in literature, and we earnessly wish him an abundance of it. at execution has a grace and beauty and aste about it that is in fine harmony with those qualities in the mental execution o

It cost money to put down the Democratic rebellion, and the Government entered into obligations in order to raise the funds. The question is, will you join with the Democracy in repudiating the obligations the government assumed in compelling it to obey the laws.—Albany Evening Journal.

The Albany Evening Journal says this in appealing to the people, whilst here, and, from the way things are now going on, the chances are that by the time the Presidential selection comes off there won't be a loyal citizen left to vote tor Some time ago there was a Union man named Holmes living in the shadow of Plymouth Rock. Hs was an old bache-or and was rich. He made a will, leaving most of his property to an unrepenant rebel named Descon Andrews, an Inpatch of bushes that grows at the base of Plymonth Rock and there knocked him on the head and left him "dead as any nall in door," as Tom Hood observes. The robel Deacon is now in jafl, whence he will be Since he has been there it has leaked out that the murder of Holmes was not the first fiendish rebel outrage of which he has been guilty. A year or two ago there was a leyal young man living with him es a farm laborer. This young man, always true as steel to the Union, was the owner of a handsome property, consisting of a bundle of roperty, consisting of a bundle of lother, nearly as good as new, and pertape a fiddle and some other plunder of equal value, all of which the deacon deter-mined to possess. So, one night he stole body in the woods, and confiscated his property.

A rebel woman—in fact a female Kuklux—named Mrs. Madden living in the flows of Canton, Massachusetts, had a loyal son-in-law named Jones—Obed Jones. On the night of the 4th inst. Mr. and Mrs. Jones, not wishing, from some cause or another not yet explained, to sit np all night, went to bed. There the disloyalty of her mother breke out in Mrs. Jones, and the first thing Jones knew he and his wife were in the midst of a nocturnal row. The result of the quarrel was, Mrs. Jones jumped ont of bed with her child in her arms, leaving Jones desolate, and went to bed with her mother in another room. The next morning Jones was found lying on the hed with a rebel builet-hole in his head, whila a deadly fin-klux pistol lay on the floor hat dby. Mrs. Madden and Mrs. Jones endeavered to explain away things, but it wouldn't do. They were put in jail, and endeavered to explain away things, but it wouldn't do. They were put in jall, and the other day they were overheard talking about the Fourth-of July dasth of poor loyal Jones. Mrs. Madden admited that she had killed Jones, and nrged her daughter to stick to the story she had already told; which she will probably do; but it will hardly keep the disloyal mother-in-law of Jones from going up the spout of outraged justice. Of course large numbers of rebsl flags meighborhood, the anthorities have not dared to make the fact known.

About five days ago a loyal citizen of the city of New York, of the name of Thomas Steele, a stone-cutter by trade, went to Middletown, Connecticut, to buy quantity of atone at the quarries there, carrying a considerable sum of mouey with him. That night the Ku-kinx and other rebels drugged all the whisky in town to each an extent that when Mr, Steele had taken fifteen or twenty drinks . it flew to his head and made him feel cu-rious. This is what the emissaries of Jeff. Davis and the butcher of Fort Pillow wanted. They were ready then to tram-ple the flag of the Union under foot and unfurl the stars and bars, the dark emblem of treason and slanghter. As a matter of course, Mr. Steele was found doating in the alver the next morning, with his nose manhed to a jelly, his front teeth knocked down his throat, the back of his head caved in, and the last cent of

Mr. John Kelly was a loyal ditizen, emwhere in the neighborhood of Holyoke, Massachusetts. Last Wednesday he drew some money from the bank, and, about 11 o'clock that evening, was seen coming ont of a drinking saloos, accompanied by several men, apposed to have been rebels or members of a Ku-Kux Kisn, disguised as plain citizens. The next morning the fortyman who carries people and things across the river between South Holyoke and Williamsport, found the body of Mr.

across the river between South Holyoke and Williamsport, found the bodysof Mr. Kelly floating in the river, and npon the face and head were found many marks of tebal violence. There is no doubt in the community that the marder was one of the fruits of Johnson's late amnesty proclamation and of Forrest's and Hampton's presence in the National Democratic Cenvention. Encouraged by these things, it is perhaps the greatest wonder in the world that the rebel Kn-klux of New England haven't risenup and murdered every teyal man here, from the waters of the Sahine to the waves of Long Island Scand, Hongalow must be sent here to world that the rebel Kn-klux of New Eng-land haven't risenup and murdered every leyel man here, from the waters of the Sahine to the waves of Long Island Scound. THE WAR OF BACES, Another of those anderen and startlin Another of those andden and startling murders which journals are so often called upon to chronicle, took place in Algiers on Sunday afternoon, and as might have been expected in the present state of men's minds, the event simost precipitated the population into a riot. The affair took place between and all o'clock, and originated in a quarrel between a colored boy, agailsticeup reighteen, and Henry Foute, who was several veers younger. The nlace of the difficulty teen, and Henry Foute, who was several years younger. The place of the difficulty was in front of the last house on Chestuut street, where Foute resided.

As the quarrel increased between the two youths, Henry Foute called his brother Randolph, who was then indoors, and who immediately ran to the scene of the struggle. What then transpired, according to information furnished us, was that the colored boy drew a kinife about eight inches long, and stabbed Pandolph to the heart. The blow was said to have been dealt by the colored boy from behind.

Before Judge Durell took his departure North, he made quite an abridgement of the list of United States Commissioners in attendance on his court. Edgeworth and Holland were dismissed; Norton, es Commissioner, tendered his resignation, and it was accepted; Urban was restricted to civil busineses; and last, though not least, R. H. Shannon had his official head chopped off. For this closing act on the part of Judgs Durell the public are prepared to render him much thanks. A more miserably presumptuous specimen of the malicious, lutriguing, and virdictive politician never was permitted to exercise anthority in any civilized community. A loud-monthed braggart, be proved himself tha most odious, impertanent, mischlevcus, presumptuous, and proved himself the most odious, impertanent, mischieveus, presumptuous, and tyrennical of all the corporal's guard of scheming carpet-hag adventurers that have cursed and plundered New Orle unstance the close of the war. Even his conferes in the beautin I work of exalting itering to their own social and moral plane, have been for some time past ashamed of him. To-day Messrs. Henry Henna, one of the directors of the Little Miami rail-road, Mr. Kinney, bauker, and Mr. Corwin, Pearl street merchant, together with two gentlemen from St. Lonis, making five in all, leave for their annual hunting excursion on what is called the "John Brown's Tract," in the northern part of New York State. At first sight it seems curious that men should go from the extreme West, like St. Louis, to tind a wilderness in New York for a hunting-ground. But such is, nevertheless, the tact, There is no wilderness in all the country like this same "John Brown's Tract" in New York. It embraces the whole northern part of the State, and is probably two hundred miles long by trom twenty to fifty miles wide. It not om twenty to fifty miles wide. It not

The company that has been systematically robbed is the Michigan Central railroad, and it has been accomplished in this usanner: According to orders the conductors of all pessenger trains on this road, upon their arrival in Datroit, deliver all tickets gathered by them to Mr. Thomas Frezer, the General Ticket Agent here, so that they can be properly disposed ot. It has happened very frequently that conductors have omitted to punch or cancel many of these tickets, reited, and he will te examined at no dis-tent dey, at which time all the facts will te very fully developed. Precasely how long this robbery scheme has been going on, we, of course, know net, but elreumstances point to years gone by, and it is presumed that $10,000 or $50 (50 must have been made alto.) net, but eircumstances point to years gone by, and it is presumed that $10,000 or $20,000 must have been made alsogetier. The arrengement has not been cautined entirely to Detroit, but the raulications of the plot extended over considerable space and time, and the developments than far made implicate many prisons, eithough it is possible many may be able to show a clear record.

The nucanceled tickets have been sold at the different railroad ticket offices in the country, but the fact that they were duted we uld seem to indicate that parties selling them must have been expirizant of the ibsits or they would have had nothing to do with them. These are speculations of the country, but the fact that they were not been only person who procused that the summatine, who seems to have been the only person who prochused the tickets of Shaw, did so in simost every instance at reduced rates, and then disposed of them at their full value.

There are many other developments yet to be made, which we are not yet in a position to give an lukling of. They will, in our opinion, show much rascalling and the property in the seult in bringing a few noces to

Our leading merchants, bankers, and operators, generally, are extremely ignorant, and outside of the dealth of their daily traffic and the usual addition of politics, and perhaps a smattering on horse-tiesh, they may honestly call themselves "know-nothings." A young friand, who is pretty well educated, says that he has to correct his employer's grammer and spelling in basiness correspondence, a necessity which some men escape by employing a cierk tool othe letter-writing. A leading dealer in the article of tea, and one of the heat merchants in the city, invariably uses the expression, "We sam," and others of similar inaccuracy. Another leading merchant inquired of a friend where Shakspeare lived. Another, who also is a whotesale dealer, told us lately he had been reading a tock called layron, and wendered if we ever heard of it. Another gentleman said he aiways understact that Walter scott was an American auchor, and that Walter scott was an American auchor, and that while scott so of quotations were it necessary, and might add blunders of a maning nature. A Pure-minded Patriot.

A Brief Record of a Radical Dilice-seek. er-t-round and Lofty Inmbiling-Thai Letter.

From the Maysville Eagle, 21.
In the Sandy Vailey Judicial District
one John M. Burns is running as the radical candidate for Prosecuting Attorney.
Ele pretends to run as an independent candidate, but he is making the race resican candidate for Prosecuting Attorney, the pretends to run as an independent candidate, but he is making the race reality in the intersate of the radicals, and were his election a possibility it would be claimed as a radical victory. John M. Birns nised to be one of the most violent pro-slavery Democrats in the State, and was generally the fellow put forward lo assail. Whise who ventured into Floyd county as Abolitionlats. During the winter of title-left, he was one of the most obstreperous members of the Legislature in favor of the secasion of Kentincky. And when Netson made his march into eastern Kening as a rebel quartermaster for one of the regiments under John S. Witliams, it is said that he made particularly free with the houses and other property of Union men in the upper part of the Sandy valley, so that when ha doserted the rebel cause it was not deemed prindant by him to remain in Pike or Floyd counties. He removed to Catlettaburg, keeping particularly quiet until after the close of the war, and then turned radical, as has been tulimated, to avoid prosecution. Of course such a man readily becams a convenient instrument in the hands of Captsiu McKes, and of course he was permitted to vote unquestioned while Union men who intended to vote for Col. Hurtt were made to take an illegal test oath or were refused the right to vote. The man has this impudence of the devit, and is now traversing the Sandy valley wearing by everything holy and unholy that he never was a rehel or rebel sympathizer, and that he was always n Union men. This has caused the following letter, written by him when he was that secsation candidate for the State Senate in 150, to be brought to light:

We hope all good men in the Sandy vatley will rally to the polls and convince
John M. Burns that he made a mistake

Early History of a Mormon Elder. I see in your paper to-day what pur-ports to be an address of Brigham Young to a congregation of Mormons at the tuneral of Heber C. Kimbail. Brigham says of Kimbail: "He was a man of as much integrity, I presume, as any man who ever tived upon the earth. I have been personally acquainted with him for torty-three years, and I can testify that he has been a man of truth, a man of benevolence, a man that was to be trust-id."

enevolence, a man that was to be trusted."

Mr. Young also ataies that Brother Heber had been his fret counselor for atmost twenty-four years. If Brigham Young's testimony is good for any thing, then Heber C. Kimha'll will be taken for an henest man. An intimate association with him for twenty-four years, and an acquaintance of forty-three years, would give Mr. Young's opinion the credit of being based upon ample knowledge. But a circumstance in the life of Kimbati has cince to my knowledge that wonth not confirm the testimony of Brigham Young. Kimbali began his life in Fonda, Naw York, probably before his acquaintance with Young. He kept a country store, and made his purchases in Boston. He irraded, among others, with the firm of York, probably before his acquatutance with Yonug. He kept a country store, and made his purchases in Boston. He traded, among others, with the firm of Amadon & Bowman, and became largely indebted to them. Becoming embarrassed, he was preessed by them to secure the debt in some way. To do this he persuaded has father, who lived in Orange county, New York, to mortgage his farm to Amadon & Bowman, promising himself to provide for the mortgage. The whole property of the eider Kimball oonsisted of the farm which he thus encumbered to save his son from faiture. Soon after this transaction Heber joined the Mormons. Ysars ran on, and the interest on the mortgage accumplated, remained unpated, and was fast eating up the value of the farm. When he he had a foreclosure of the mortgage, and Heber's parents were intried out of doors in their old age and reduced to extreme poverty. Mr. Amadon, of this firm of Amadon & Bowman, is now a resident of New York city, and would undoubtedly received this transaction, although the cisim against Kimball passed into the handa of his partner, Bowman. It may be that Heber subsequently contributed to the support of his poor and aged parents, but I think he left them to die in want.

Washington, July 20, 1563.

I telegraphed you a few days since that serious charges had been made against the Clerk of the House of Representatives, McPherson: General Lippincott, Doorkeeper; Sergeant-at-Arms Ordway, and Postmaster King. These charges were made by William J. Manker, of Indiana, formerly a door-keeper of the House, who has been for some months past engaged in gathering the materials to sustain his accusations, which he caused to be printed in a pamphlet of thirty-eight pages. This book goes minutely into all the operations of the officers referred to, and if his allegatious are true he certainly makes out a strong case against all of them.

This pamphlet was privately circulated smong some of the members and created considerable talk, but no notice of it was taken in the House. On Wednesday, Mr. Washburne offered a resolution that a select committee of five he appointed to examine into the manner in which the contingent fund of the House was disbursed duting 1867 and 1898, with power to send for persons and papers, provided no expense to the Government was incurred thereby. This brought out John M. Broomall, of Pennsylvania, Chairman of the Committee on Accounts, which committee has authority to pass upon accounts about which Manker alleges there have been such gross frauds. Broomall moved to a metal by giving his committee authority to make the investigation, and in this shape it was passed. It is well known that the object of this investigation is to ascertain what truth there is in the accusation made by Manker. -The officers of the steamer Indiana captured a large fat buck, three years old. captured a large lat buck, three years old, while it weas wimming the Ohio, near Goiconds. It made a desperate fight, even after being hoisted on the steamsr, Capt, Nell has bud a state-room fitted up on the lower deck to accommodate him. —The Indiana reshipped har fraight for this port on the Tenneasee at Golconds, and returned to Cairo.

June 30, ledt. of their sainty, inder pretenss of employing substitutes in the folding-room, whe no substitutes were employed. The whole stair originated from the fact that $1.5 were deducted from Manker ostensibly to pay a substitutate of the work in the folding-room during his absence last summer, in the recess of Congress. But no substitute was employed for him, and, o ascertaining this, he addressed a respectful and courteous letter to General Lippincott, stating the fact, and requesting an explanation or a return of the letter when Manker, finding he could get no redress, nor his money returned, indignant

The terms upon which the Ohio bridge question has been deferred are particularly aggravating to the railrosd interests which are engaged in euch projections, and withal are not calculated to insurs programment that the property is to be a second or second or the calculated to insure the programment is to be a second or the calculated to insure the programment is to be a second or the calculated to insure the programment is the programment of the calculated to insure the programment is the programment of the calculated to insure the calculated the calculated to insure the calculated more justice than was attainable through the evidence already submitted before the Congressional Committee. The board of five or mois engineers, who are to be appointed to investigate into the merits of appointed to investigate into the merits of the question, may be composed of man who are above suspicion, but if they are slike in character to nine handred and fitty men in a thousand, their virtue will fersake them under the very epecions influence of the very wealthy corporations who have their largest interest at clake. This is particularly applicable to the Sieubenville bridge case, than to alter which it would be highly discretionary to provide golden spectacles for tan times rive individuals on the Investigating Board.

Board.

It is neither a proper way to arrive at the merite of the case, nor right to daily with so important a matter to the extent rring i another six months. Son concurrent opinions to favor of long span bridgee, and to their statements evidence of the requirement of long epans has been adduced from very many practical men connected with the river navigation—in all, sufficient teetimony to warrant a de-cision much before this time. Contem-plate the immense tosses which are cision future to the time, Contemplate the immense tosses which are occasion d to the several railroads, which are looking for a connection across the river to compete with rivating lines, and then recall the frittering, easy daillance of the committee of Congress, and say what interest our legiciators have with our commerce.

It is an outrage often perpetrated, and should draw the severest condemnation It tato be hoped that, in any event, in proposition will again be entertained to decide upon the requirements of naviga iton through every new bridge which may be prejected, separately and singly, It would be far better to grant three hundred feet as a general requirement at one, as the varying influences brought to bear in each particular instance would, after awhile, wise. after awhile, give us as many varying widths in spans as there are in the mertiisns of tongituds from the equator to the

Manker is professedly a Republican, and
